RE: SCRAPBOOK - JETS – Community Partnership

Youth participating in the JETS (Juvenile Employment Training Services) program are getting a helping hand from a new face in town. David Terry, owner of Traditions Family Style Restaurant & Pizzeria is donating one dollar to the JETS program for every 16 or 18 inch pizza sold on Mondays and Wednesdays at his new establishment located on the corner of West Route 36 and Oakland Avenue (formerly Michael's Pizza).

The group is also performing yard services for Terry at the restaurant for an additional donation to the organization.

The JETS is an intervention program for at-risk youth, administered by Champaign Residential Services, Inc. (CRSI) in collaboration with the Champaign County Juvenile Diversion program, the Champaign County Juvenile Court system and other community service agencies. The money is used to help fund the program.

Yard services are available by contacting Tiffany Martin at 653-1315 or Byron Benning at 653-1329 at CRSI corporate offices.
